ST. PAUL RAILROAD ACQUIRES 361-MILE LINE IN INDIANA

Authority to consummate the proposed lease of the Chicago, Terre Haute & Southeastern company was given the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway at the annual meeting of the stockholders at Milwaukee Thursday. F. W. Zimmerman, local agent of the St. Paul, returned Thursday night from attending the meeting.

The proposed acquisition is 361 miles of line extending from Blue Island, near Chicago, to Terre Haute and southern Indiana. It serves a territory producing large quantities of first class coal suitable for steam and commercial purposes; also extensive stone quarries at Bedford, Ind.

By the terms, the St. Paul agrees to lease on a yearly basis, paying the annual interest on the $19,000,000 in bonds and securities amounting to $900,000, together with about $233,000 in taxes.

The St. Paul believes that the saving in freight charges on its own fuel alone will more than equal the rental of the leased property.

RAILROAD EXPENSE TABLE EXHIBITED

Washington.—A table showing what sums had been expended for railway operating expenses and taxes from 1917 to 1920, inclusive, was submitted to the senate interstate commerce committee Friday by Julius Kruttschnitt, chairman of the board of the Southern Pacific railroad who appeared for consultation of his cross examination in connection with the committee's inquiry into the railroad situation of the country. The exhibit showed that whereas in 1917, 55 cents out of every dollar expended for operation and taxes went for wages of employees, this had increased in 1920 to 59 cents. Salaries of general officers decreased from 1.12 cents to 78 cents out of each dollar. The salaries of division officers remained practically stationary.

LLOYD GEORGE GIVES WARNING TO WORLD

security, police from Hamburg and Kiel and a few from other German cities have reached Berlin now here and are authoritatively reported to have placed themselves at the disposal of German authorities there.

May Make Offensive.

There are rumors the Germans will take the offensive probably within a week when their preparations are complete. The poles in the meantime are known to be strengthening their positions with artillery although they are not advancing. French sources declare that Adolphe Korfanty, leader of the Polish party, has been ordered by General Lorrain's instructions and suspended his offensive.

French Regret Statements.

The French government statements published by the Poles that the allies have accepted the present battle line as the new frontier between Germany and Poland. They declare the statements tend to excite the German population making re-establishment of order more difficult.

A German counter offensive, it is believed, cannot be prevented unless the Poles evacuate their positions.

GERMAN STRIKE AT OPELLEN IS ENDED

Berlin.—The general strike begun by the German workmen at Oppeln, Upper Silesia, in protest against the attitude of the inter-allied commission toward the Polish insurrection, has been called off, according to advices Friday. Members of all German nationalities and the communists, visited the headquarters of the commission Thursday, dispatched state, and were assured by General Lorrain, head of the commission, that no negotiations with the Polish insurrectionists had taken place as had been reported. He added that he had asked for military reinforcements and will be glad to see British and Italian troops sent to the district.

SEEK INJUNCTION IN MILTON UTILITY CASE NOW PENDING

An injunction is sought by the Town of Milton to restrain the McGowan Water Light and Power company operating in Milton Junction from continuing proceedings before the state railroad commission to obtain a certificate of valuation of the waterworks of the defendant McGowan company.

The papers asking for the restraining order signed by John A. Paul, S. Green and W. P. Belcher were filed in the Rock county circuit court Thursday afternoon. A hearing will be ordered by Judge George Grimm to determine whether the injunction shall be made permanent. Otto A. Costich is counsel for the plaintiff. During and election January 20, 1920, the township voted to purchase the properties of the defendant company. There is now pending before the state commission a decision on the amount to be paid by the village and township for the public utility company.

The company alleges that the McGowan company is obtaining water from a well which it does not own. Admission is made that the utility company owns the water pipe lines. There is a dispute over the valuation of the property and the town of Milton seeks to prevent the company from obtaining a valuation.

Tobacco Least Harmful of "Four Social Poisons"

London.—Tobacco is the least harmful of the "four social poisons," namely, alcohol, cocaine, and opium, according to Sir James Cantile, the eminent surgeon. "Smoke the same amount of tobacco every day," he said, "and the heart will be as accustomed to a certain amount. If one smokes less one day than another, he feels the same effect as much as if he had smoked more." He said three days absence from smoking would entirely free the system of nicotine. Sir James condemned the cigarette.

Aerial Transport of Diamonds Contemplated

London.—Aerial transport of diamonds is contemplated in the Belgian Congo by a mining company in which American interests are largely represented, according to African advices received here. The mines concerned are at Djoko-Punda, in the Kasai Province. At present the diamonds are transported by mule along the Kasai and Congo rivers between the mines and Kinshasa, a distance of 300 miles, occupies 35 to 40 days. By the use of airplanes, it is expected to accomplish the trip in about two days. The present output of diamonds from the Kasai fields is reported to be 250,000 carats a year. Exploitation of the fields began in 1908.

The Executor's Bond

Another big advantage you have in selecting the Trust Company as your executor is in the matter of giving bond.

The private executor must always give bond of proper size and the cost of this bond is added to his fee. It is sometimes as large as the fee for services. In one case in this county the bond cost the estate $3,500 and all the work of the Executor cost only $4,000.

The Trust Company makes a large deposit with the State Treasurer to guarantee faithful work and a special bond is seldom required of them.

This means a saving of thousands of dollars to our patrons in a short time.

Excelo Cake

Now you may have rich Excelo Cake, ready baked

By special arrangement with the manufacturers we are now privileged to bake and sell cakes made of Excelo Cake Mixture, which you have known for years.

We are proud of our achievement in bringing to our aid the skill and experience of these master makers of cakes. With this help our own expert bakers, working with Excelo, now are producing cakes which are marvels of richness, lightness and fine texture.

Cake-makers have taken it for granted that no pastry could be rich with sugar, and yet be light and fine of texture. But see for yourself if our Excelo Cakes do not break cake-making traditions. The sugar is there, heaps of it, still the texture is finer than that of cheaper cakes, which contain less sugar.

Excelo is the rich, two-layer iced cake. Rich with cane sugar, finest flour, best vegetable shortening. Two layers to insure thorough baking. Iced on all four sides, on top and between the layers. Heavy, smooth Chocolate icing for all white cakes. Luscious white sugar frosting for Chocolate and Devil's Food. Excelo is the richest baked cake, made in a size and shape most convenient for you.

Look for the Unusual package. If your grocer does not carry Excelo Cake, ask him to order it for you today.

FINAL ACTION ON GARBAGE SATURDAY

Bidders Asked to be on Hand at City Hall at 9:30 O'clock.

Not having secured any bids on the collection of garbage in Janesville, the board of health at its meeting Thursday evening extended time for accepting bids until 9:30 Saturday morning at the city hall when it is expected the matter will be definitely decided. The contractor will be responsible for the collection of the garbage in the city weekly and semi-weekly in the residential sections and every day downtown. An excellent opportunity is offered a man to run a profitable business, board members declare. The four trailers purchased by the city from the Edgerton Highway Fuel company will be brought to Janesville Saturday.

In case a contractor is not engaged the collecting will probably be done by the city until one is secured. The fact there are few figures upon which to base a bid for disposing of garbage to farmers is troubling many who are interested in the transaction. The collection of garbage is scheduled to start Monday.

Attention is called by the board of health to the ordinance which makes it a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine, for throwing glass, toothpicks, egg shells or any refuse other than suitable for feeding swine, into the can which must be in an available place for collection. Coffees grounds are considered as garbage. The garbage collector is not required to collect anything but dry garbage. Three farmers at the meeting Thursday night said they would like to take part of the city's garbage but were skeptical about offering a definite bid.

BIG BOTTLING FIRM HAS BRANCH HERE

Madison Company Buys Out Esser Brewery—Esser to be Local Manager.

Esser's Ale Brewery on North Franklin street has been sold by George H. Esser, 323 Pearl street, to the Heibel Bottling company of Madison. The new concern will establish a branch here and has appointed Mr. Esser as manager. In closing the deal, Mr. Esser becomes a part owner in the bottling company, one of the largest in the state.

An extensive campaign to introduce the Heibel line of soft drinks will be started immediately. According to G. Heibel, head of the company who was here Thursday, the Janesville branch will act as a bottling center for Rock, Green, Walworth and Jefferson counties. It has the exclusive distributing agency for Wisconsin.

The goods will continue to be bottled in the large plant of the concern at Madison and shipped here by freight. Motor trucks, two of which will arrive here in a few days, will deliver the cases to customers. An innovation will be selling direct to the household consumer at his home from the truck.

The Esser brewery was formerly Hemminger's Ale Brewery. Mr. Esser having purchased it in 1912. Its continued manufacture also until the prohibition and into effect and then turned his attention to "near beer."

During his residence here, coming in 1909 from Madison, Wis., Mr. Esser has been interested in many civic affairs. He is local head of the Order and state treasurer of that order.

Mr. Heibel has been a member of the executive board of the American Association of Bottlers of Carbonated Beverages for the past six years. He helped to organize the state bottlers' association.

LATEST CREATIONS OF DAME FASHION SEEN BY HUNDREDS

A scale array of "fashionable" was shown at the Golden Eagle store Thursday night. An audience that packed the spacious second floor department, delighted in the presentation of the summer modes on living models. Several women clerks in the store acted as models, taking part in the pantomime of style, displaying clothes that meet the needs of all hours of the day and night, and all ages.

Fifty garments were shown and some were shown twice by request. The "sweet girl graduate" was there. The sports enthusiast was delighted with the extensive showing of clothes for out-of-door activities. The evening gowns, the street suits, the afternoon dresses, in fact everything that adds to the feminine delight in a wardrobe was shown.

The "complete outfit" was the feature that added greatly to the success of the presentation. The dress put with its accessories makes an entirely different effect than when hanging alone on its hanger. It was given its customers the chance of seeing the beauty of the garments when accompanied by all these "little things" that the Golden Eagle management had given special thought and care. Everything from the gay parasols to the handkerchiefs and even the shoes matched.

A program of orchestral music was given throughout the evening's presentation from 7:30 to 9 p. m. Lorraine and John Kennedy gave several dances during the evening.

The models who appeared in the fashion parade were Misses Catherine Crane, Margaret Delaney, Viola Pratt, Nell Ryan, Lillian Dulin, and Grace Thorman.

1,500 SEE MERCY HOSPITAL ON DAY OPEN TO VISITORS

How one of the most modern health facilities in Wisconsin and the United States is run was shown to a crowd of people estimated at 1,500 at Mercy hospital Thursday on the first celebration of the birthday of Florence Nightingale as "National Hospital Day."

From before 2 o'clock until 9 in the evening a steady stream of people, many of whom had never been inside a hospital before, inspected it to put themselves to the third floor. The entire force of nurses available and all the sisters were busily engaged showing the visitors around and explaining the methods in treating the sick and injured.

So many were the crowds during the evening that little progress could be made in the corridors. Visitors were sent first into the basement, where a guide, permanently stationed there, explained the method of leading the patients, how the laundry was taken care of, showing the nurses' recreation room; the ice room, where artificial ice is made; and the various dining rooms where the sisters, workmen, nurses and made eat.

Progress was slow, every detail of the work of the great hospital being explained. The wards were shown, where the patients are housed, and the Sisters' workshop, the five operating rooms and the X-ray room, with thousands of dollars' worth of equipment were all shown to the visitors. The method of administering anesthesia and performing operations were explained.

The visitors were also shown into the nurses' home and school from which many have graduated since its establishment many years ago.

50-POUND DEVIL FISH SHOWN HERE

Seventy pounds of coaly fish flesh with seven long, tapering arms extending from the middle of the body is on exhibit in the show window of Metzinger's Meat house on West Milwaukee street. The specimen is a medium sized catfish, commonly called a "devil fish." It was caught in the Pacific in the vicinity of San Francisco and sent to A. G. Metzinger.

The ugly denizen of the sea originally had eight arms, but one was cut off by an angler in Chicago, whose people relish the meat as a delicacy. The arms, five feet long, with countless suckers, extend from a head of fearful shape.

These fish are considered the most dangerous of all inhabitants of the ocean. If they catch a human being, they wrap the long arms around the body, sucking out the blood until the victim is dead. In some species the arms reach a length of 20 feet. They usually lurk around the bottom of the ocean, yet are extremely swift swimmers.

The specimen on exhibit here is the first of ocean fish that Mr. Metzinger plans to exhibit.

JEFFERSON COUNTY BUILDS NEW ROADS

13-Mile Concrete Program for 1921—Local Man Gets Five-Mile Job.

Jefferson county, adjoining Rock on the north, has let contracts for the building of 13 miles of concrete highways this year. Work to start immediately, according to Joseph Council, Janesville, the successful bidder on one of the projects. The plan in that county, he says, is to put concrete in the bad stretches on rural highways this year, the balance of the work to be done in the future.

Mr. Council's bid of $160,000 for building a five-mile stretch on the road from Johnson's Creek to Weston town, was the lowest submitted, Wednesday, and he was given the contract.

Contracts for three other stretches were awarded at that time. This is Jefferson county's first year in doing extensive building of concrete highways following the passage of a big bond issue.

Mr. Council has recently become associated with Burrill & Peppard, Minneapolis contractors, with whom he worked several years ago in railroad contracting projects. He will plan to start work on culverts next week.

CHAPTER XXXII.
CONSEQUENCE.
 So Myra, triumphing by the obvious feminine method of weeping! She would not have succeeded with an older man, or a mere cynical one. But Tim was only 23, and Tim was not cynical. And Tim was homesick that evening.

Of course, he knew some other girls in the city, but they were mostly hard working office employees like himself. He had been out with some of them—entirely with a bright-eyed little clerk in his own office, who was supporting a mother and sending a small sister to school on her salary and on some extra money. This girl's pluck and cheerfulness reminded him of Ruth—Ruth who wanted the business schooling of little Miss Wentz to do as much for more.

But after all, Miss Wentz had a nose sizes too small for her face, and she dressed in blue serge—good blue serge, but nothing sparkly and dressy and clinging like Myra wore. Tim never thought of the means—no thought more of the effect.

And the effect on Myra was heavenly this evening. Unbidden, Myra had put on the blue chiffon—for Emily, in a sanitation had no need of it—and her gray eyes, seen with its softness, took on the hue of a summer evening sky. She was so lovely, and so soft, so expensive and delicate—appealing in every way. How did Tim know that she was playing to every one of his physical senses?

He kissed her to comfort her, and delighted that she found him so sweet. So he kissed her again, and her soft lips clung to him. And when she drew away, her eyes were dry again, and bright—bright with the glory of triumph, had Tim but known it.

"Say it! You didn't say it all," she begged.
 "Say what? Say I love you?" The boy was startled with her sweetness. He caught her and kissed her again, eyes and lips and her neck and one shoulder, gleaming pure and white under the thin film of chiffon.

"I do love you. You're the dearest little—no paused for a word—"dearest little baby sweetheart in the world."

Tim was proud of having thought of this. And Myra held her head back, smiling at him with her soft wide gray eyes.

"I was so afraid you would think me silly," I should have let you kiss me, but I—loved you so much—I couldn't help it."

And certainly no man could be unforgiving for a sin committed for such a reason. Tim, whose common sense had long since deserted him. Not long afterwards a check tinkled 11 times, and Tim got up to go. Myra rose too, and eluded to him a little. A tonic mirror in the room (Emily kept long mirrors in all her rooms) reflected the two figures. Myra, with her head against Tim's shoulder, smiled at him with her soft wide gray eyes.

"Admiring yourself, pussy?" he asked, catching her look in the glass. "Admiring," she answered. "You're handsome, Tim, I like to look at you."

"We'll have a long mirror in our

Escalloped Ham and Potatoes.
 Take slices of baked ham and chop finely, using the fat as well as the lean. Arrange in a buttered glass baking dish alternate layers of cooked diced potatoes, cream sauce and the ham. Add to the ham layers a little minced parsley and to the potatoes bits of butter and finely chopped canned pimientos. Have a layer of the sauce on top, cover with crushed dried bread crumbs, dot with bits of butter and bake in a hot oven for 30 minutes.
Fresh Cucumber Cocktails.—Chill a cucumber for at least 24 hours directly on the ice, then peel and cut in tiny cubes. For an individual cocktail mix together two tablespoons of the cucumber dice, one tablespoon of grated horseradish, one tablespoon of minced crisp celery and a teaspoon each of minced chives and radishes. Season lightly with salt and paprika, moisten with a boiled dressing and fill into a chilled cocktail glass lined with tiny heart lettuce leaves. Serve very cold.
Sauce for Cup Cakes.—To prepare sauce for the dessert simmer together for 20 minutes one cup of brown sugar and one cup of a quarter cups of water. Have ready one cup of fresh marshmallows, cut in quarters, pour on the boiling syrup and boil well. Add a few drops of vanilla extract and serve at once. If the sauce has to stand, place the bowl containing it in a vessel of hot water (not boiling) and cover the bowl.

Heart and Home Problems

BY ELIZABETH THOMPSON.
 Letters May be Addressed to Mrs. Thompson, in Care of the Gazette.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am 30 years old and have been married seven and a half years. We have no children. My husband is very mean to me and tells me I should go and never come back again. I have done so much for him since we have been married, but he will never be a man. No woman would stand for the things he calls me. Since he has told me many things that I should go and never come back, don't you think I ought to go and show him I can live without him?

I have a true friend. He would give the world to me if I had the right to do so. Do you think there is any harm in talking to him when I meet him on the street? Please tell me what I should do. S. W. A. K.

In my opinion you are hardly bound but no real marriage exists between you and your husband since you no longer love each other and are unhappy together. You must make your own decision in this matter, however, and should do what you yourself believe to be right.

The street is not the place for conversations. If you and the other man meet socially it would be all right to enter into conversation with him as you would with any other man, but you should not be personal and pour your troubles into his ears. As long as you are married it is wrong to cannot possibly be happiness in the marriage.

Don't let his mysterious threat frighten you, my dear. It makes a better story that way, but in real life hearts are rarely so broken and folks almost never disappear or become lost to the important work they are doing in the world. Undoubtedly the young man is sincere and thinks he will not have the heart to go on without you—but he will find strength that will surprise him, and I promise you the world will not suffer. Personally, I think any man who tries to frighten a girl into leaving him in this way, is not much of a man.

Once more, though—I cannot answer letters in the Column within two weeks. All readers of and writers to our Column, please take notice: Letters must take their turn in this limited space of ours, and if you want a quicker reply you must send a stamped and self-addressed envelope for a personal letter. And even then because of the great number of letters you send me I must ask you to be patient. You may be sure I will answer you as soon as I possibly can.

It's the Girl, Not the Occupation.
 "Dear Miss Page—I am very anxious to join the chorus, and am asking you as to whether I should or not, as I hear people say a girl cannot lead a good life if she is on the stage. Please let me know what you think of it." Britzle.

I think that is all nonsense. It is the kind of a girl you are, and not the job at which you earn your living, that determines whether you lead a good life or not. However, I urge you to think it over carefully, talk it over with all your family and friends, and then write me for a personal letter before you decide to try for the chorus. It is work that offers many temptations, is very hard on the health, is exciting, and on the whole has little to recommend it as a vocation for girls out of 1,000.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Page in care of the "What Shall I Do?" department will be answered by these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the questions. —The Editor.

What Shall I Do?

Answered by VIRGINIA PAGE

A Coward's Threat.

"Dear Miss Page—I had been going with a young man for only a week when he asked me to become his wife. He declares he loves me and cannot go on in this world without me, and says no one will know what becomes of him if I refuse him. The work he is doing is very important in the world, and if I refuse him it will break his heart. But I do not love him and I know I never would. He has given me two weeks for my answer."

What shall I do?—I. D. J.
 Refuse him by all means. There is no more cruel thing than any man or woman can do than to promise to marry someone who really loves them and then they themselves know that they do not love. It is cheating, and there

The Letters of Tessie and Joe

DEAR TESSIE:

I hope you're not too disappointed at the news from Washington that there's not going to be any League of Nations after all, but I don't think it will make much difference in your daily life, because even if your butcher happened to be a German and your baker an Italian and your grocer a poor Swede you couldn't have gone up to them and said, "Well, there's a League of Nations now, so I guess you won't object to letting my bill run for another month or so."

They'd only have told you, "Nothing doing—there may be a League of Nations, but disarmament hasn't taken place yet, so you can't expect us to stop running for your money."

However, Tessie, the fact that disarmament hasn't been adopted throughout the world doesn't necessarily mean you're to unslung all your heavy batteries every time you write for extra money. Business is so poor I'm thinking of carrying a sideline of antitoxins to go with Daisy Canned Soups, maybe some nifty brand of indigestion tablets. Not that I'd like to be quoted as saying indigestion tablets ought to be taken as a chaser with a can of Daisy Soup, but it might be a good selling argument to give away a tablet with each can, especially with people that have tried the soup before.

I've been reconsidering my advice about teaching the baby to swim when you give him his bath. Perhaps you'd better start him with a little cork jacket or a pair of water wings, because, after all he's only six months old and we'd better work gradually with him.

The crime wave seems to be diminishing, but don't get too trusting and start leaving the silver on the doorstep over night, and above all guard my private stock as you would your life.

Lovingly,

JOE.

CHAPTER XLII.
The New Day.

The slapping of the wind against the tent awakened Beatrice. She could hear it sighing gently through the branches of the live oaks. An outburst from the tent told her that the wind was blowing. She slipped on her feet, and, looking out upon a world which swam in the enchanted light of a dawn primrose, the eastern sky was faintly pink with the promise of a coming sun. The sweet, penetrating light of the dawn struck her face, and she felt a new life in the world.

Her questioning glance found Clay, busy over the breakfast table, upon which he was cooking. She watched him move about, supple and light and strong, and her heart filled with sheer joy at the man who had chosen her. He was such a man among men, this clay-eyed, brown-haired husband of hers. He was so clean and simple and satisfying. As she closed the flap she gave a deep sigh of content.

Every minute of the day upon which she looked down the road, she knew that she was wholly and completely in love with what life had brought her.

The hubbub of the city seemed to her now so small and so petty. All ways she had known a passionate love of things and a good. But civilization had thwarted her purposes, belittled her expression of them. Environment had driven her into grooves of convention. Here at last she was free.

And she was amazingly, radiantly happy. What did motor cars or wine or the trappings that stressed her slavery. Here she moved beside her mate without fear or doubt in a world wonderful to her eyes. They spoke the truth to each other after the fashion of brave, simple souls.

Glowing from the ice-cold bath of water from a fountain stream, she stepped down the slope into a slant of sunshine to join Clay. He looked up from the fire and waved a spoon playfully at her. For he too was as joyful as the day which stood tip-toe on the misty mountain-tops. They had come into the hills to spend their honeymoon alone together, and life spoke to him in accents wholly joyous.

The wind and sun caressed her. As she moved toward him, a breath of air mingling with the roses about her, so that each step modeled anew the slender limbs.

Her husband watched the girl as she moved toward him, a breath of air mingling with the roses about her, so that each step modeled anew the slender limbs.

"Are you glad—glad all through, sweetheart?" he demanded.

A little laugh welled from her throat. She gave him a tender, mocking smile.

"I hope heaven's like this," she whispered.

"You don't regret New York—not a single, hidden longing for it 'way down deep in your heart?"

She shook her head.

"I wanted to be tested from the environment that was stifling me, but I didn't know a way of escape till you came," she said.

"Then you know it?"

"From the moment I saw you till the time I reached the hills. You remember I was waiting to go riding with Mr. Bromfield. Well, I was bored to death with correct clothes and manners and thinking. I knew just what he would say to me and how he would say it and what I would answer. Then you walked into the picture and took me back to nature."

"It was the hitching-post that did it, then?"

"The hitching-post began it, any how. She slipped her arms around his neck and held him fast. 'Oh, Clay, isn't it just too good to be true?'

A ball of fire rushed up into the crotch between two mountain peaks and found the world like a sea of light. Their little valley with a golden glow.

The new day summoned them to labor and play and laughter, perhaps to tears and sorrows too. But the joy of it was that the call came to them both. They moved forward to life together.

WATCH YOUR DAD OR TEACHER FOR A PET FIDGET! HE HAS ONE.

By Cup Reporter

Riding on a train recently I had plenty of opportunity to observe fidgety habits and some of their habits. One thing in particular I noticed was that everybody seemed very fidgety.

"Why is this?" I asked myself. And then the words of a lecturer I had heard several weeks before came back: "There are very few people who can sit absolutely still for as much as five minutes when they are near other people."

Interesting, isn't it?

I was surprised at the different kinds of fidgets. One man directly across the aisle of the car was stroking his chin thoughtfully and making heavenward. In the seat in front of him sat a woman nervously biting her lips, and reading a magazine.

Next to this woman sat a young man of about 18 years, and he was anxiously pulling on the tip of his nose while he stared blankly at the toes of his shoes.

Just for the sake of curiosity I got out of my seat and walked slowly down the length of the car. One woman, I observed, was tapping her fingers one after another on her knee. A large fat gentleman put his feet on the floor in time with an imaginary tune.

Another gentleman, this one not fat, but very lean and tall, was frowning fiercely out of the car window, apparently in very deep thought, and ready to bite somebody's head off.

I had to sort of sneaker when I saw another of the passengers speedily slipping his tongue into one side of his mouth and then into the other as though he was trying to keep time with the "click-click" of the train wheels as they passed over the rails. He sure was making speed.

And then I returned to my chair and sat down to think. I happened to look down at my hands.

"What in the world," says I to myself, "am I doing? I had been twirling my thumbs for all they were worth. Just as if that would help me think!"

What's your pet fidget?

He hurried off before an impatient waitress should demand his further services.

"Now's my time," and Billy was up on the freezer, and had taken one great mouthful of the cream.

The Story of Our States

By JONATHAN BRACE

On Jan. 2, 1788, Georgia accepted the Constitution and became the fourth state in the Union. The settlement of Georgia was conceived as a buffer between the deep-seated animosities of the Spaniards and Indians whose invasion of South Carolina had reached a climax in 1715 with a raid in which four or five hundred settlers had been massacred. To protect South Carolina from future incursions James Oglethorpe planned a colony to the south, and in 1732 he obtained from George II a grant of land. The new territory was named Georgia in honor of the king. The deed stated that the land was granted "in trust for the poor." This referred to Oglethorpe's plan to have the settlers the insolvent debtors of the town of Savannah in 1733 and rapidly spread up and down the coast, where successful plantations of rice and indigo soon became established. Georgia continued to prosper until the population of its 33,258 square miles entitled it to a representation of 14 presidential electors.

Truancy Report Shows Need of Day Nursery

One hundred Janesville children have mothers who go out to work, according to a casual investigation just completed by Miss Kathryn Ketchum, secretary of the United fillet bureau. Of this number, the mothers of 72 are regularly employed. The survey was made relative to the advisability of establishing a day nursery.

From a report issued by Miss Rosemary Bright, truant officer for the public schools, 428 of the 3,885 cases of absence in the schools for the past five months are due to children being kept out to aid at home. This cause ranks fourth among the reasons for absences. A total of 378 cases were traced to children being kept home to care for babies, this reason ranking sixth.

Increase Is Feared
Ten cases were discovered where the children are out of school at least once every week, which situation Miss Ketchum believes could be remedied if there were some method of caring for the smaller children. In her report, Miss Bright states that she believes her figures will be doubled by the end of the year.

"Not only does the child who is kept at home because of these conditions become handicapped in education," says Miss Ketchum, "but it is an additional expense to the city since it takes that much longer to educate the child. In addition, the babies do not get the proper care."

At Mothers' Workings
From information obtained through the schools it was found that 51 mothers with children of school age are under a working during the day. 31 of them being employed in shops. Five mothers were found with a total of 10 children who need money and would work, but they are unable to leave the youngsters. There are several cases where mothers take their children with them while working.

although this is not possible where employers object. A compilation of the cases of the 100 children shows that the mothers of 15 work by the day at anything they can get those of 22 are employed in warehouses; those of 21 in the office or shop of factories; those of four in downtown offices; those of four doing nursing; those of 14 in restaurants; and those of five in printing plants.

Safe and Sane 4th of July Is Urged by State

Attention of the public is again brought to bear on the fireworks question in a bulletin issued by the state industrial commission to the fire chiefs of the state. The law which prohibits storage of fireworks in a building closer than 200 feet from any other building, the manufacture and sale of fire crackers more than three inches long and other points of this statute are quoted. The disaster that occurred in Chicago last year because of the storage of fire works in a building where many people worked is pointed to as a warning.

A safe and sane Fourth with no fire works at all is urged, the commission advising people to "let sanity and safety of life and property prevail over dangerous and meaningless noise."

APRIL RAINS BENEFIT WINTER GRAINS

Madison—The condition of winter grains in Wisconsin improved 3 per cent during April due to heavy rains which overcame a previous deficiency of soil moisture and stimulated growth, the report of Joseph A. The area remaining for harvest is estimated at 77,000 acres or 10 per cent less than last year. ## SCHOOLS BASEBALL LEAGUE PART OF BIG "V" PROGRAM

The physical department of the Y. M. C. A. is making preparations for a large program of outdoor activities and has organized a grammar school baseball league with seven schools represented. The first games will be played Monday according to A. D. Bergman, physical director who has fostered the league. Meetings have been held in all the schools and much enthusiasm was shown by the young fans.

Through an arrangement made with Supt. Frank Holt a certain scholastic grade will have to be maintained in order that the boys will tend to uphold the school work and will not allow pupils to sidetrack their studies in the evening. The league will last until the close of school in June. Games will be played every afternoon during the week. The Y. M. C. A. will probably award prizes to the winning team. The Gazette cup, now loaned by St. Patrick's, will be played for.

Hand Ball Court.

Mr. Bergman is having the lot next to the Y. M. C. A. cleared and will arrange a place for jumping and a hand ball court. Work has already started in the game classes on track and jumping and some good material has been found and it is felt may develop into athletes with experience.

The Y. M. C. A. has also decided to put a two tennis courts in shape for a busy season, having early in the season been equipped with reservations for the courts made by tennis enthusiasts. The fence will be erected and both courts put into condition. A new marker, net stretchers and a new roller have been ordered.

Swimming Classes.

It is planned by Mr. Bergman to stage a track and athletic meet at the close of the school year for the grammar schools at the fairgrounds. Following the close of the grammar school baseball season. A campaign to teach every boy in the grammar schools how to swim will soon be started, beginners being taken in the regular Y. M. C. A. gym classes and taught regardless of whether they are members or not. The confidence method used so successfully in the past by Mr. Bergman will be taught men how to swim in one lesson will be used. He will be assisted by a corps of six instructors chosen from the best swimmers in the classes who will undergo a special course of instruction.

STILLMAN MAID TO TELL HER STORY

Irish Girl Expected to be Valuable Link in Divorce Case.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE] New York—An Irish maid, Mary Kelly, has returned to this country from Ireland and is expected to throw a new light in favor of Mrs. Anne J. Stillman, her former mistress, in the suit for divorce brought by James A. Stillman, millionaire and former New York bank president. The maid was located in her native land by Fred Beauvais, French-Canadian guide, named by Mr. Stillman as co-defendant in the case and as father of Mrs. Stillman's youngest son, Guy. Beauvais has played a leading part in marshalling the Canadian witnesses for Mrs. Stillman into line in an effort to discredit the "ladder and keyhole witnesses" brought forward by the husband.

Mary Kelly is expected to deny that she found the "Dearest Honey" letters alleged to have been written by the Indian guide to Mrs. Stillman, as has been charged by the plaintiff. She will also furnish a valuable link in the chain of testimony of Guy Stillman.

An entirely new motive on the part of Mrs. Stillman in desiring a divorce has been shown by an "intimate informant." It is said that Mrs. "Pill" Foster Stillman, former stage star, was in love with a young society man and asked her husband for a divorce so that she might marry her "lover." The bank president was said to have assented on the stipulation that his wife take with her Guy Stillman, whom he characterized as "your child." But at that point the young man in question married another woman. Mrs. Stillman then did not seem so anxious for a divorce but her husband pushed the proceedings naming Fred Beauvais as co-defendant.

STATE WILL APPROVE TELEPHONE MERGER

the sum returnable amount to $54,530 annually.
The average operating expenses at Janesville for the corresponding year for the Wisconsin Telephone company is $18.96. The total telephone company entered exclusive switchboard stations which would come under the merger is $122. Applying the average expense of $12 per telephone the operating expense would amount to $27,018.

Increased Rates Certain
Amortization of the loss of $102,000—the figure set between the value placed on the Rock County plant and the commission estimated value to the Wisconsin company—the commission notes should be spread over a period of 10 years. The annual charge of amortization then would be $10,200, which is less than eight per cent.

An increase in rates to the Wisconsin company in event of a merger is certain, but the increase would be materially less than the cost of having both telephones. The Rock County has applied for an increase in event the consolidation is not effected and the Wisconsin company is also awaiting for application to increase rates.

Fix Maximum Rates
The commission, however, has set a maximum limit that it will allow for rates if the duplicate lines are merged. The price it establishes is materially less than the rate schedule the operating company has asked for in its rate petition. Consolidation would necessarily mean an increase because the Wisconsin line would have to wipe out the $102,000 amortization costs, which it would have to pay to remove the Rock County company as a competitor. This would derive any revenue from this expenditure during the 10 year period the commission allows for the payment of this amount.

The rates the commission set as a maximum—and even these rates are not assured—are from 25 cents to $1 less than those petitioned for by the operators. The commission in plain language warns the company if there is consolidation "you may raise your rates—but not beyond this limit—and we are not certain of granting you even this schedule." The final schedule is to be based on income resulting from consolidation.

Comparison of Rates
The figures in the first column indicate the rates requested by the telephone operators and in the last column the maximum allowed tentatively by the commission per month.

Requested	Limit
One party, bus. .... $5.00	$5.00
Two party, bus. .... $5.00	$4.00
One party, res. .... $3.00	$2.50
Two party, res. .... $2.50	$2.25
Four party, res. .... $2.00	$1.75
Rural service, within 6 m. .... $2.25	$2.25

In rural service $2 per annum is considered for each additional mile from Janesville.

Janesville telephone subscribers are hopeful that the merger will be successfully executed to eliminate duplication of service and provide cheaper and more efficient service.

The conference after which the commission's decision was announced was attended by officials of both companies and Roger Cunningham, who appeared for the city.

The Hanover school girl led the list prepared Thursday at the office of County Superintendent O. D. Antisdel, with an average of 93 and one-sixth. The school of the same township has an average of 90 in the tests.

The ability of the country school children in spelling clearly indicates that they are superior to city pupils in this branch of schooling. Spelling is drilled into the pupils until the 12 and 14 year old country boys and girls can excel the average college graduate. They were given a list of 2,200 words, from which 100 unusual words were selected. The majority of the pupils passed 85 per cent in the tests.

The winners and townships they will represent are as follows:

CITY WATER PLANT IS WORTH $630,000

Valuation More Than Doubles in Five Years—Is Still Growing.

Jamesville's water plant will be worth close to $1,000,000 by 1922, judging by increases in the valuation since the city took over the corporation six years ago and making allowance for growth of the city. The present valuation of the plant is $630,000, according to the report for the quarter ending March 31, 1921, just filed with the city council.

The value of the plant will probably go above the $1,000,000 mark this year with the addition of the eight million gallon Murray pump and the building in which to house it. The valuation when the city bought the plant in 1915 was fixed at $282,989. The figures for a year ago were $522,801.

Deficit Is Shown

The gross income for the first three months of 1921 is listed as being $6,330.81, from which money has been subtracted for the sinking fund, and interest on the funded debt, to leave a deficit of $348.46 for this period.

While the valuation of the plant has more than doubled, its daily production has increased from a daily average of less than 1,200,000 gallons in 1915 to a mark around 2,600,000 gallons. The biggest daily pumpage last month was April 22, when 2,717,000 gallons were recorded. The total pumpage for the first three months of 1921 is given as 205,951,138 gallons, as against only 105,858,288 gallons in three months in 1917. The figures for the first quarter of 1920 are 187,750,000. The cost for pumping 1,000,000 gallons from Jan. 1, to April 1, 1921, was $62.47, the report shows.

A representative from the Murray Iron Works, Burlington, Ia., is now superintending the erection of the pump in the new addition to the plant on South River street, nearing completion.

STATE CAMP TO BE LARGEST EVER

BE THE LARGEST EVER

Wisconsin Will be Training Ground for Great Number of Troops.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Madison—Wisconsin will become the training ground this summer for the largest gathering of federal and state troops ever brought together at a state encampment since peace times of plans of Adjutant General Orlando Holway of the Wisconsin national guard are carried out.

The first regiment of field artillery of the sixth division, a federal unit, will arrive in southern Wisconsin a reminder of war days when it goes into training at the Wisconsin summer camp, according to tentative plans of the United States war department.

The regiment is scheduled to march under full equipment from Camp Grant, Illinois, to Camp Douglas.

The field artillery of the thirty-second and thirty-third divisions, comprising units from Wisconsin, Illinois, Michigan and Minnesota, will go into camp. Douglas later in the summer. This will bring into the state a large number of troops and make Wisconsin the military center of state organizations of the National Guard.

Start Moving to Encamp June 18

All of the sixty-fourth infantry brigade of Wisconsin will encamp June 18. This unit, numbering about 2,000 men, together with the regular forces of about 10,000 will be stationed at Camp Douglas into a training ground equalled in activity only by the mobilization of forces during the summer of 1917. The work will be of a training nature prior to entraining for Texas camps and overseas duty. Wisconsin cavalry units and combat engineers will go into training at Camp Grant on June 18. The tank corps will also train at Camp Grant but the date has not as yet been decided upon.

Schools for Wisconsin National Guard officers, will be held at Camp Douglas on June 20 to 23 inclusive. The school for officers of field artillery of the sixth corps area, including the artillery officers of the Wisconsin national guard, will probably be at Camp Grant, the adjutant said. The exact dates will not be decided upon until later.

Go to Camp Grant.

The cavalry units, inclusive of artillery, horse and machine engineers, mounted, of the Wisconsin guard, will participate in the camp of instruction, together with all other cavalry units of the sixth corps area, at Camp Grant, Aug. 6 to 30, inclusive.

The units of the artillery of the Wisconsin guard will encamp at Camp Douglas July 25 to Aug. 10, inclusive. Because of the high power of the artillery now used by the government, the adjutant general is discouraging artillery practice at Camp Douglas. Built for ranges of but 2,500 yards, the modern guns capable of destruction at 7,000 yards will be a source of

Living in Groups Makes Great Need for Civic Organization

BY LUCIAN O. HOLMAN

For some reason or other it is the nature of people to want to live in groups; that is why there are villages, towns and cities. As individuals and as communities they require certain things. They need food, shelter, means of amusement and transportation. All of these are wanted in this community.

Commerce exists in this community and throughout the nation because there are human wants to be satisfied. Stores, factories, and banks have been created to supply the wants of the people. The word "business" is the name we have given the machinery which has been established to meet these needs. Business produces and distributes. The community consumes.

Making Business

These, briefly, are some of the elements of community living.

Business is not a thing of itself; it is a part of life, and every appetite, desire or change of the day creates business. It is the name we give to the machinery which has been established to meet these needs. Business produces and distributes. The community consumes.

The seasonal of the year creates business—the summer demands light clothing and the winter demands heavy clothing and outer coats. When the housewife decided that she would not be a slave to her work we had to invent the vacuum cleaner, the electric washing machine, and all sorts of other devices for her convenience. So even the desires of the women create business.

All Kinds Together

These things have been mentioned only for the purpose of illustrating how closely business, commerce and daily life are knit together. They are mentioned also to show the merchant and the business man that his business is dependent upon the life and progress of the community, and that no community can progress at a maximum pace unless all work together.

It is perhaps old philosophy to say that each man's prosperity depends upon the prosperity of his neighbor, but it is nevertheless true and is daily demonstrated in Janesville. It is true that unless the business interests of Janesville join themselves together for the purpose of making the entire community move forward, individual business interests must always be limited. If this is true, then it is sound philosophy to say that when men join together in making the city in which they live and do business a progressive one, when they join together to accomplish the things which will make their city a better place in which to live, when they join together to increase the industrial activities, they are creating their own future prosperity.

Interdependent People

What I want to establish is, that ties. The beautiful city of Los Angeles, in Southern California, would still be a sage brush desert if it were not for the co-operative spirit and the work of men of courage and vision.

Los Angeles had no natural advantages except sunshine and climate, but these were capitalized to the utmost extent and today that city is famed all over the world for its accomplishments. That spirit has also existed in San Francisco. Not many years ago that city was almost destroyed by an earthquake, but the building of an eighteen million dollar exposition in the wake of that earthquake and the fact that San Francisco was the city which was the answer to the critics who complained of the water supply.

Organizational Results

The organization of nine thousand fruit growers has caused farm land values to increase to $2,500 an acre. Before this organization, the fruit growers were losing money. The statistics of many other American cities are almost like fiction, so many values have been in their growth and their accomplishments as communities. Nearly everyone of them passed through a stage in their history when their own people failed to respond to the call for co-operation, but when there was a response, and an incontestable will to go forward, the result was such as to astound even their own population.

What of Janesville?

What about Janesville? Is she going to keep on like "Poppy," who "just grew up," or is she strong, centralized and definite force going to be created which will produce prosperity and advancement in the community? Is the belief in the city of Janesville which now exists in the minds of the people to be brought together in a strong, centralized place and then properly directed as a combined force? Are we going to get together and produce the progress in Janesville, that the city is capable of, and are we going to build for 1921 toward a definite plan with one hundred per cent co-operation? Or are we going to drift along and merely accept whatever progress is forced upon us? There have been splendid accomplishments here, but it does not seem that the issues have as yet been fully met.

Duty of Citizens

What duty is it to do these things? It is your duty, Mr. Citizen. Don't say that it is not your task to help in these things. It is a duty of citizenship to co-operate for community progress. If it takes time, you owe that. Every man owes more to the community than he pays in taxes. He owes personal work and thought at least.

This nation can only move toward a better and more perfect commonwealth if we all strive together to make it so. Janesville can become a more and more splendid city only by the co-operative effort of all of its citizens.

Let's get together for Janesville!

LEAGUE OF NATIONS STOCK ON MARKET FOR CHICAGO RUBES

Chicago—Stock in the league of nations at $10 a share is the latest bargain to be offered to the Chicago investing public. The department of justice investigators on Wednesday began searching for the men who have been selling the stock and collecting 25 per cent of the sale price in advance of delivery. The league organization in the world and prospective purchasers were told that dividends would be large because of the great value of the league to humanity.

WOULD PUT STOP TO PIGEON SHOOTING

London—English public opinion is being stirred by a concerted attack by the press against pigeon shooting and the proposed anti-pigeon shooting bill in parliament which would make this form of sport illegal. The storm arose over a contest recently at Cheltenham where five birds were released from traps for the proposed anti-pigeon shooting measure is promised by the government and is being warmly given by the Royal Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. Legislation against this form of sport has extended to Monte Carlo, where many upper-class English spend part of the winter, and where the practice is said to be an institution. The Prince of Monaco is reported to be sympathetic to the attempt to eliminate the live pigeon shooting and to substitute clay pigeons.

18-MONTHS-OLD GIRL IS YOUNGEST ARTIST

Cardiff, Wales—Helen Williams, of South Wales, is stated to be the world's youngest artist. Her claim to this distinction is that, although she is only 18 months old, she sits up in her cot every day and with a pen and drawing board sketches the things that adorn her nursery. Two of her studies drawn from memory are being exhibited at the annual exhibition of the Royal Drawing Society in London. Her sketches are an outline of a cat with a ribbon bow and a running gamecock.
